

"I listen like a Norwegian. I speak like a Dutchman. I deliver like both."

Who I am

Dirk Bakker
Procurement Lead | Project Procurement | Supply Chain

Languages: Norwegian (fluent), English (fluent), Dutch (native)
Age: 59. That is not a limit. That is a library of solved problems.

What I actually believe

My Norwegian half says: Be humble. Listen first. Trust is earned. No one likes a hero. The team solves it together.

My Dutch half says: Be clear. Say what is wrong. Do not waste time. A bad problem does not get better by waiting.

Together they say: I will sit down with your team, listen to your mess, and then tell you honestly what I can fix — and how. No promises I cannot keep. No silence when something goes wrong.

What I actually deliver

Not parts. Not products. Process and people.

Coherence — I connect engineering, logistics, quality, finance, and suppliers so everyone pulls in the same direction. No silent gaps. No finger-pointing.

A positive approach — I do not add to the pressure. I bring energy, solutions, and a calm "we will fix this" attitude. Teams feel lighter when I show up.

Resilience — When a project goes red, a supplier fails, or a deadline breaks, I do not panic. I do not blame. I stay standing and start solving.

The process behind the purchase price — Anyone can buy cheap. I dig into total cost, lead times, risk, quality, and logistics. The price is just the start.

Involvement from A to Z — I do not hand over problems. I start with the need, follow through procurement, delivery, and installation, and stay until the job is finished.

Elevating team performance — I make the buyers around me better. I share knowledge. I listen to their problems. I remove obstacles so they can deliver. That is my management style.

Saving is my goal. Whether 1 cent or 40 million, I deliver the percentage that matters.

Where I have done this before Industries: Oil & gas | Pharma | Metals | Maritime | Industrial

Algeco AS - Lead Negotiator, prevented a significant misalignment between local interests, vendors and HQ.

Wärtsilä Gas Solutions — Procurement Lead for LPG and maritime projects. Coherence across engineering, suppliers, and logistics. On-time delivery.

Aker Solutions — Global Forging Buyer and Commodity Lead. Led 14 buyers across 4 countries. Build team performance across cultures.

Eureka Pumps — Project Procurement Manager. Took ownership from A to Z. Fixed planning and supplier communication.

Roche — Logistics Business Controller. Looked beyond the price. Reduced inventory costs through better forecasting and process thinking.

What you get

You do not get a part-number pusher.

You do not get a drama creator.

You do not get someone who disappears when it gets hard.

You get a colleague who:

Creates coherence where there is chaos

Brings positive energy without being fake

Stays resilient when others fold

Looks beyond the purchase price

Owns the process from A to Z

Makes your whole team perform better

"You need someone who delivers more than parts. You need coherence, resilience, and a teammate who stays until the end. That is me."
